

LALEH A. HANCOCK

CFMW, RVFY-IF, JCF, BPF, BYCF

From the moment soldiers armed with guns stormed Laleh's family home, she learned that no challenge is insurmountable.

It was the first day of the revolution in Iran and Laleh was just seven years old at the time.

Her father, the CEO of a successful textile company, arranged for her family to safely flee the country but remained behind to protect his employees. This loyalty was repaid with torture and a year's imprisonment; a period he chose not to ruminate on and share with his family. Once reunited with his family in France he set his sights on a new vision. Through sheer determination, he was able to save enough to move them again to America, where Laleh was raised with the understanding that anything is possible, and no challenge or roadblock needs to hold you back from creating the life you truly desire.

Over the years she's built several businesses and coached many more, honing her supernatural abilities to see beyond the struggles of a person, their health or a business to the possibilities that lie humming within.

Laleh is the founder and CEO of professional services companies, Belapemo and Global Wellness For All. With nearly 30 years' experience in operational excellence, creating change and culture, and wellness across the organization, Laleh has inspired and empowered hundreds of thousands of individuals including families, Fortune 500 executives, government agencies, not-for-profit organizations, athletes and veterans.

Laleh strives to seek out possibility in every problem and aims to facilitate strategic change and optimal growth for all her clients. She is an advocate and empowering agent for people of ages, with special needs or disabilities, and their caregivers, and served on the Governor of Maryland's Caregivers Support Coordinating Council for four years.

Now Laleh travels the world sharing pragmatic tools and resources with people in communities and businesses.

To book your speaking engagement, please contact Pegge Suhm at info@globalwellnessforall.com.

Laleh and her team at Global Wellness For All have come together with one target – Empowering people of all ages and abilities to create wellness in all aspects of their personal and career life.

Global Wellness For All believes wellness is required in all aspects of the person not just parts of them. All aspects includes health, body and spirit, joy in life, relationships at work and at home, career growth and finances.